Following were the key observations and suggestions.

Bishop Gerald Almeida

- He observed that with the Online Teaching mode, the Professors are doing well, but there is always a difficulty in getting the students to attend. Regular classes are the best.
- Online teaching is only useful to those who want to give full attention. Attention of students needs to be captured.

Dr. Evans Coutinho

- He congratulated the College for the marked improvement in Research activities.
- In terms of the NIRF Ranking, he suggested that the College progress is restricted to a certain limit of progress with only undergraduate programs in terms of NIRF Ranking He suggested that the College start PG & Ph.D. courses. This will improve the NIRF Ranking also.
- The college Faculty should publish in NIRF accepted journals.
- Create a niche for the college – an area of expertise for which St. John shall excel and be well known
- For the Diploma Course - He suggested involvement of the Diploma Engineering students in the Degree student projects so that they learn to participate in competitions and improve their skills. Also such students shall feel motivated for higher studies.

Mr. Avinash Shastri

- For the MMS Course - He suggested that the Industrial Activities be increased after the Pandemic risk is lesser and restrictions are lifted.

Mr. Aldridge D'Souza

- He suggested that the online certifications should be continued for all students – atleast 1 per student.
- He also said that our Diploma Engineering passout students could participate in the Direct Second Year Sem III classes when they start.
- He requested that HOD's & Faculty should ensure that students sit for the interviews. Students should attend mock interviews to improve their skills. There are cases where students accept job offers and then refuse. They should be counselled to take up the jobs – getting a job in this situation is most important.

Dr. Brajabandhu Das

- He suggested that the Alumni Association identify good passed out students and focus on communication with them. The presence of such students will motivate the current students. Mrs. Elaine D'Souza further added that such students could be called as judges for competitions also.

Dr. Savita Tauro

- She suggested that all data presented be always double checked to ensure consistency in all formats presented.

Mr. Albert W. D'Souza

- He suggested that the Alumni Association formed at every College / Department shall have representation from all batches that have passed out.
